The Friendship Edition of the "1940 Tattler"

THE 1940 TA

BEFORE WE BEGIN . . .

We, the Yearbook Staff of the Fiftieth Graduating Class, endeavor to recreate the happy and profitable days that were spent during our High School years. After leaving High School, we shall casually recall these days, and may then refer to this Annual to revivify dim memories into realistic scenes. That these recollections may be referred to throughout our entire lives, we bind them together in this volume, THE 1940 TATTLER.

FRIENDSHIP . . .

Every Annual has a set theme upon which is based the type of pictures, style of writing, and manner of presentation. In this, the Eighteenth Edition of THE TATTLER, in order to set forth the theme of friendship, we shall strive to disclose, both pictorially and editorially, the friendships developed through classes, athletics, and extra-curricular activities. To do this we have divided the Annual into three books.

FRIENDLY ADVICE

Tramping feet and the endless chattering of hundreds of students have long ceased—silenced by the dismissal bell. Only faint echoes remain to represent it at the meetings of the board of education.

On the first Thursday of every month, these seven citizens, chosen by the people of Emmaus to supervise the education of their children, assemble to devote themselves to the important duty entrusted to them.

Subject to state regulations, the duties of the board of education are definitely outlined by a school code. Collectively,

Claude H. Keller

Edwin L. Muth

Robert G. Stauffer

GIVEN BY BOARD OF EDUCATION

these duties concern the supervision of all school activities, finances, buildings, grounds, supplies, and curriculum.

At the busy sessions of the school board, vacancies are filled, resignations are accepted, taxes are levied, appropriations granted, and provisions are made for the purchase of books and supplies. Any addition to the curriculum must meet the approval of this group. Through its efforts, also, commendable school repairs and improvements have been made possible. In this manner, the path of knowledge is made smoother and more accessible to the younger generation of our community.

The officers of the board of education for nineteen hundred and forty are as follows:

Albert B. Wieand, President
Robert G. Stauffer, Vice President
Claude H. Keller, Secretary
George S. Stephen, Treasurer

Since April it has met in the council room of the new town hall by invitation of the Emmaus Borough Council. Its former meeting place had been the directors' room in the Washington Building.

OUR FRIENDLY

Howard J. Yeager
Superintendent

After four years in the realm of theory together with some advice and guidance from parents, teachers, and friends, the practical world of reality must now be faced.

I realize that the same opportunities that were open to me are not equally available today, but new and possibly larger opportunities beckon the youth with brains, courage, ambition, and a willingness for hard work.

If you have evaded certain duties and responsibilities while in school, you have cheated only yourself. You will find yourself greatly handicapped in the battle of life.

Continue your education. If you graduate today and stop learning tomorrow, you will be uneducated the following day.

HOWARD J. YEAGER

Although we were not very often in personal contact with our superintendent, we constantly felt his presence in the well organized system under his supervision.

ADMINISTRATORS

Allen F. Heller

Principal

You, seniors, have come to the end of a trail that has led to an elevation from which you may see the world and its people. You are about to enter the highway of life. The road is worn smooth; its sides are littered by the victims of the pitfalls and failures encountered along the way. It is also marked by the monuments of those who have overcome hardships and through their achievements have reached success.

The future is unknown; there is no rainbow of promise on the horizon; but, this fact should be a challenge and an opportunity to prove your worth. You must go forth as pioneers, seeking new frontiers of activity and opening new avenues to accomplishment and success.

ALLEN F. HELLER

We brought our intimate and individual difficulties to Principal Heller and received helpful and friendly advice. He shall be remembered for his just disciplinary measures.

A C

As we, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Forty, leave Emmaus High School to go forth and take our place in the world, or to further our schooling in a college or university, it is fitting that we bid farewell to the people, who have played such a great part in our high school training—Our Faculty. But in saying good-by, we do not wish to bid farewell as one does on a permanent separation, but as one does on a short departure; for whether we go to college, or out into the world, we shall have it with us indirectly. These people are a part of the instruction that we received and shall strive to put into practice.

For four years the faculty has patiently taught us, and if we have not benefited by that instruction, it is not its fault, but our own.

But before we leave, let us have one final roll call of these teachers with whom we had so many personal contacts, and try to place them in their proper setting in which we saw them so often and of which we ourselves were a part.

ULTY

Reaching the head of the east stairs and not knowing where to start, we go down a side hall, from which issues a most savory odor. Opening the door at the end of this hall, we burst in upon Miss McLean, instructing a group of girls in the art of cooking—a branch of Home Economics. Miss McLean also supervises the cafeteria.

Leaving the aroma of cooking behind us, we enter Miss Cook's room at the head of that hall. Besides teaching Health and Physical Education she coaches the girl's athletic teams. Crossing the hall to room eleven, we see through the open door, Mr. Deischer, instructing an American History Class. In addition he teaches Algebra and Problems of Democracy, advises the Monitor Club, and is Faculty manager of athletics.

Passing along the hall, we hear Mr. Humphreys telling a European History Class about the Reign of Terror and other high-lights of the French Revolution. He also teaches Civics and Ancient History. Apart from his teaching duties, he coaches the track team and is assistant football and basketball coach. In the next room a group of seniors are reading a poem in unison and, looking for the preceptress, we see Miss Beary at the front of the room. Miss Beary is coach of dramatics and oratory.

Coming to the west end of the hall we encounter a strong odor, but instead of the smell of food, the stench of chemicals and gases greets us. We enter a but interrupt Mr. Frantz, who teaches Junior Business Training, Business Law, Salesmanship, and Business Arithmetic. Mr. Frantz is also Faculty adviser of the School Paper and Faculty Manager of Athletics. Leaving the room, we cross the hall in search of that awful odor and upon opening the door of room fifteen — Phew!— we find it. There, among a maze of test-tubes and beakers, are Mr. Becker and the Chemistry Class, mixing a concoction that is known as Hydrogen Sulfide. Mr. Becker teaches Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Science. We leave abruptly and head for the stairs. Upon reaching them, we pause; to the right, we hear music. Opening the door, we look in upon the balcony and see Mr. Peters, who conducts Music and Guidance Classes. Mr. Peters is director of the glee clubs, chorus, high school orchestra, the annual High School operetta, and sponsor of the Student Council.

As we descend the stairs to the first floor, we hear a steady clicking sound and the jingling of small bells. Upon investigation we find the typing room, crowded to capacity, under the supervision of Miss Strauss. Miss Strauss also teaches Shorthand. With the noise of typewriters in the background, we cross the hall and enter room five, where we hear Miss Hauser discussing Bookkeeping. On the blackbord she has forms called T-accounts, and debits and credits are mentioned. Miss Hauser teaches Shorthand and Bookkeeping. Confused with the words accruals, assets and liabilities, we enter the adjoining room where a Latin Class is in progress. Mr. Ortt is the Magister, teaching Latin and Civics.

Returning to the hall, we perambulate to room three and see Mr. Benfield at his desk, checking English projects handed to him by the students in his classes. Mr. Benfield teaches English and German, coaches the debating team, and is copy adviser of the school paper.

To the right of the main entrance, we enter the art room under the supervision of Mr. Walbert. A person could spend an hour in this room, admiring the students realistic paintings and drawings which decorate the walls; but we must leave and continue our roll call. At the end of the hall Mr. Geisinger teaches Algebra in room one and, directly opposite, Miss Busher teaches English and French.

Branching off from the main hall, we pass along a side corridor and enter room eight. Here Mr. Bowers conducts his Biology and Science classes. We leave quickly to prevent interrupting him in his demonstration of an experiment to his class. At the end of this side corridor, Principal Heller's office is located. Mr. Heller divides his time in taking care of his duties as principal and teaching Plane and Solid Geometry, Algebra, and Trigonometry.

Going to the basement on the last leg of our journey, we enter the Industrial Arts Department under the supervision of Mr. Schrader, who teaches Woodwork, Electricity, and Architectural and Mechanical Drawing. He is also Faculty Manager of Athletics.

To the right of the shop, Coach Hartman's office can be found. Mr. Hartman, besides his coaching duties, teaches Health and Physical Education.

Aside from class room instruction, students need assistance in library work, instrumental work, and medical attention. So we wish to recognize Miss Gery as librarian; Mr. Jagnesak as instructor of pupils interested in learning to play musical instruments, and as band director; and Dr. Kratzer as our periodical health examiner.

Upon the shoulders of Miss Albright falls the school's routine responsibility. As secretary to Mr. Yeager, Superintendent, we find her keeping school records.

SENIOR CLASS ADVISERS

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Forty, extend our most sincere thanks and appreciation to our class advisers for supervising the class throughout our four years in high school. Also, we thank them for the great effort they have put forth in making these years happy and profitable.

To expedite the work of our senior year and to designate more definitely the functions of the class advisers, certain responsibilities were assumed by each. We take this opportunity to pay tribute and to express our sincere appreciation to Mr. Frantz for the guidance he has generously given the staff in publishing this yearbook and in making it a great success. To Miss Hauser for her guidance, advice, and help, which was constantly extended in supervising the class meetings and finances, we express our heartfelt gratitude and unfeigned thanks. We applaud Mr. Walbert, and truly appreciate his service and good-will which was always unselfishly proffered in superintending the class plays and dances.

To all, we pay our highest regards and respect for the sincere, unselfish leadership and devotion they have given the class of Nineteen Hundred and Forty.

THE CLASS OF 1940

In 1937, one hundred sixty-six students assembled in the high school auditorium as "corny" freshmen. We were finally divided into four sections, and thus our high school career was launched. Many became active in extracurricular work. Our only social function of the year was a swimming party held at Pine Tree Park.

Vacation time passed quickly, and with the first summons of return, one hundred twenty-three "sophs" responded. We were allotted two social functions, a Hallow'een Party and our first dance, the "Rainbow Hop." More students took part in extra-curricular activities. We were soon planning our summer vacations, and presto, we had completed our second year of high school.

Returning as juniors, we found that our ranks again were depleted to one hundred fourteen. We successfully held the greatest function of the year—the Junior Prom. A large crowd was entertained and everyone declared it our best event. We also sponsored a Christmas Dance; and, as a farewell to the class of '39, we gave a dance in their honor. We were now nearing the end of our third year, not lacking athletic, dramatic, and operatic stars.

We reached our first important goal when we became seniors, one hundred and seven in number. From the start, the year promised to be successful. We managed the school paper, were active in athletics, and dramatics, presenting two highly successful class plays. For the third successive year we participated in the annual operetta—the cast of "Hollywood Extra" being comprised mainly of seniors. We reached a social climax by sponsoring three dances, Hallow'een, Christmas, and Valentine. We soon wrote "finis" to our memorable high school days, with a record of which we can be truly proud.

Best of luck to a

FOOTBALL

Gridiron Warriors Have Successful Season

The 1939 football team accepted the responsibility of upholding the school's record by completing a successful season. In addition to winning seven of the ten scheduled games, the boys totalled 234 points to their opponents' 85. However, the three defeats were suffered in league competition; thereby lowering the locals' standing in the League. At every contest fans witnessed the finest brand of football, the best cooperation, and the most colorful school spirit possible.

Starting the season with an inexperienced line and a veteran backfield, Coach Hartman's proteges won the season opener against Allentown High's junior varsity, 27-0. In this game Captain Weida broke two fingers, putting him out of service for the game with Northampton, which Emmaus lost, 21-6. Weida returned, with casted fingers, and Emmaus trimmed Slatington, 33-7. An injured foot prevented Wetherhold from being abel to punt throughout most of the game, and the locals lost to Catasauqua, 6-0.

Upon defeating Lehighton High, 46-19, the Green and Gold inaugurated a five game winning streak of which Emmaus can feel proud. They defeated Boyertown, 39-14; highly favored Palmerton, 26-0; previously undefeated East Greenville, 43-6; and their Turkey Day rivals, Whitehall, 7-0. However, the season closed with a 12-7 defeat at the hands of Stroudsburg, co-champions of the Lehigh Valley Inter-scholastic League.

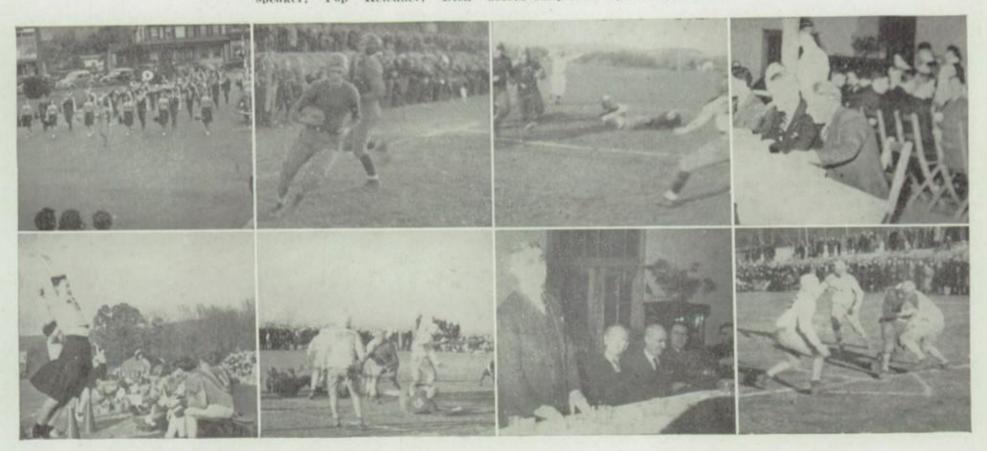

The annual football banquet was held in the basement of St. John's Reformed Church. Captain Philip Weida received the Mary Deischer trophy as the team's most valuable player, and James Wetherhold was awarded the Booster Game football as the best player in that game. The Dr. Lichtenwalner trophy, presented to the most improved player, will be shared by Richard Lichtenwalner and Wilmer Brey.

Twelve members of this powerful squad leave through graduation. They are: Captain Philip Weida, James Wetherhold, Thomas Kline, Elden Bortz, Wilmer Brey, Charles Elkins, Richard Liantenwalner, Harold Wilson, Charles Kline, Albert Seibert, Henry Kuehl, and John Gehman.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Cagers Complete Season With Fair Success

With three varsity men returning to form a nucleus, the Green and Gold cagers completed a twenty-six game schedule with fifteen victories. Inaugurating the season with less than a week's practice, the Moravian Boro lads suffered a 32-10 defeat at Allentown.

A rejuvenated team with championship hopes easily defeated Moravian Prep, Quakertown, and, in a thriller, upset Central Catholic, 34-32. However, the following week the Vikings retaliated with a 56-21 victory. In the next two engagements, during the Christmas Holiday Season, the locals successfully defeated Columbia and the Alumni.

Playing host to Slatington, the league season was opened favorably with a 39-30 victory; but upon encountering Palmerton and Catasauqua two heart-breakers were suffered, 23-22 and 36-35, respectively. Continuing in league contests the Green and Gold surpassed Lehighton, 41-37, Northampton, 37-22, and Stroudsburg, 34-26, before suffering a reverse in a closely contested battle with Whitehall, 29-28.

Playing without Wetherhold and Laudenslager, Emmaus lost to South Whitehall in a non-league game. Opening the second half of the league schedule, the locals defeated Slatington 46-23, without the aid of their captain. However, championship hopes died, when Palmerton and Catasauqua repeated victories over Emmaus.

A game which disclosed the best teamwork of which the lads were capable, was shown when Lehighton was handed an inhospitable 61-32 lacing. In the remaining league games, three reverses were suffered at the hands of Northampton, Stroudsburg (forced into an over-time duel to win 33-31), and Whitehall.

In post-season contests, the Hartman coached lads walloped the Millersburg Alumni 37-16, jolted Columbia 39-31, swamped Moravian Prep 33-18, and in a benefit game for basketball suits, defeated the Alumni, 44-23, to wind up a successful season.

Junior Varsity Basketball

Teams which are expected to produce material for varsities of succeeding years are the junior teams. Composed usually of inexperienced men, this team develops teamwork and the art of handling the ball; also providing good opposition for the varsity at practice sessions.

The local Jay Vee team completed the season with nine victories and nine defeats. Opening the season with a number of reverses, they quickly improved themselves to defeat highly rated teams. The finest brand of ball was exhibited late in the season when the Green and Gold defeated a highly favored Stroudsburg five, 32-27. Promising material, awaiting promotion to the varsity, has been developed from this fine team.

Basketball

Lady Luck failed to smile on the girls' basketball team this year, and therefore many reverses were suffered. Of the fifteen games played, only four resulted in victories; two were ties; and nine were defeats. Official ruling permits no overtime periods for girls; therefore the ties remanied.

The lassies opened their season favorably by jolting Moravian Prep, but fell before Quakertown in a closely contested battle, 21-16. After tying the Alumni, they defeated Fleetwood and Coopersburg.

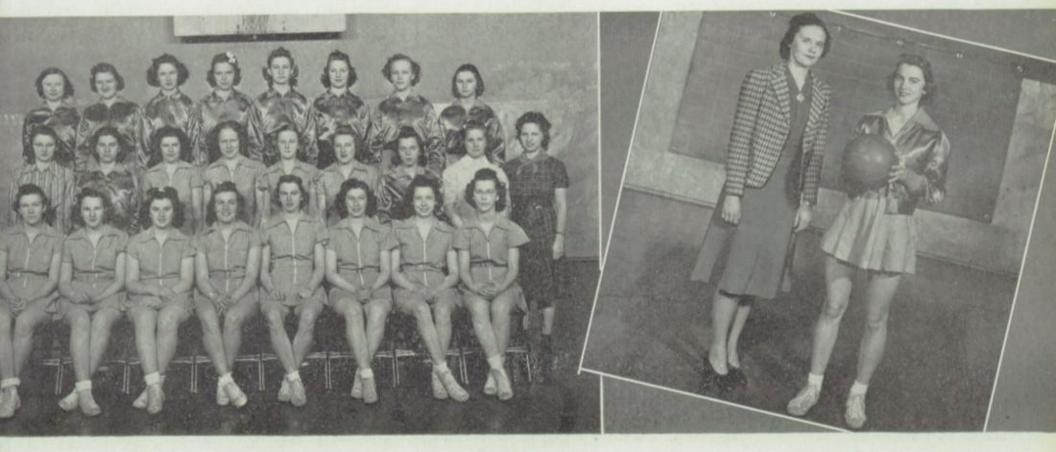

Continuing their schedule, the lassies failed to dent the victory column until they met Moravian Prep near the close of the season. In this game the local sextet established a record by administering a shut out to the visitors, 27-0.

Graduating are: Captain Geraldine Hamscher, Helen Kocis, Pearl Miklencic, Olga Nickele, Betty Bruder, Irene Durback, Rhea Derr, Blanche Meitzler, and Mary Bittenbender.

Baseball

At the time of the writing of this article, the baseball team has played only two games of the 1940 schedule. These games resulted in a 10-3 victory over Central Catholic, and a 7-1 drubbing by Allentown.

From a squad of fifty candidates who responded to Coach Hartman's call, twenty men were selected to represent Emmaus. Of these, ten were members of last year's team. With strong league competition anticipated, it is impossible to predict the outcome of the squad, but it is certain the boys will exhibit a brand of ball worth while witnessing.

Leaving through graduation are: Captain Thomas Kline, James Wetherhold, Thomas Wieder, Robert Stephen, John Knerr, and Wilmer Brey.

Track

With several veterans returning and a large group of promising candidates responding to Mr. Humphrey's call, hopes are high for a successful track season. The trackmen have a tough schedule to complete, with possibilities of annexing several trophies for their Alma Mater. Lack of practices, because of inclement weather conditions, greatly handicapped the boys early in the season. Through the inspiration of school records and their own will power, these boys entered the meets, never complaining of lack of practice.

Graduating members of the squad are: Burton Laudenslager, Martin Stephen, Elden Bortz, Russell Kerstetter, Kenneth Kline, Leon Gehris, Earl Rohrbach, Warren Mansell and Aurel Arndt.

Cheerleading Squad

Playing an essential part at all major athletic contests, we found a squad of six girls leading enthusiastic fans. It was not their duty to directly participate in the games but, indirectly, to develop enthusiasm among the fans and to inspire their team on to victory.

The squad, attired in Green and Gold uniforms with megaphones to match, consisted of: seniors—Emily Fellman, Joyce Leibert, Ardella Sallade, and Sadie Iobst, assistant; juniors— Ruth Bernhard, Caroline Chihul, and Faye Feather.

In acknowledgment of their services, each senior is awarded on Letter Day a six-inch chenille letter.

ACTIVITIES

THE SCHOOL ANNUAL

Eighteen members of the senior class, who were chosen from a long list of volunteers by the senior class officers and home room presidents, comprise the staff of the nineteen hundred and forty yearbook. To attend its meetings and business sessions held after school hours in the basement room, many members were compelled to discontinue other activities. Divided into several groups, each group having its particular function, the staff spent a great deal of time in planning and preparing this annual.

After considerable deliberation the staff awarded the printing contract to Mr. Malloy, representative of William F. Schlechter Printing Company of Allentown. Mr. Sharp, local agent for the Pontiac Engraving and Electrotype Company, Chicago, Illinois, furnished the engraving and Calvin Studios at 617 Linden Street, Allentown, handled the photography of the groups. Mr. Frantz, with the assistance of Miss Hauser and Mr. Walbert served as adviser and directed the staff in its work.

The School Paper

The Journalistic Club, better known as the Tattler Staff, convened weekly in the basement room and library. The club is composed of seventeen seniors and eleven juniors, selected for their scholastic ability, initiative, and responsibility.

The Tattler, a monthly periodical, was published throughout the school year. The four page, printed publication contained articles concerning school events, alumni activities, humor, features, and sports.

Students of Emmaus High School do not obtain the opportunity to enroll in a Journalism course, but those students who become members of the paper staff may profit through the experience which a publication of this sort can offer. The members of the staff receive fundamental rules and ideas and immediately set forth to accomplish their assignments.

The seniors of the club took part in the annual School Press Conference at Palmerton High School, September 27, 1939. At this meeting, the advisers and staff members from schools of five counties participated. Lectures and group meetings were held for the benefit and improvement of school publications.

The staff is subject to the guidance and direction of two faculty members, Mr. Frantz as sponsor of the club, while Mr. Benfield serves as adviser of copy material.

"Aunt Susie Shoots the Works"

"Aunt Susie Shoots The Works," a mystery farce in three acts, was presented by the Senior Class on November 17. The weeks of practice previous to the play were well rewarded because the audience practically rolled with laughter.

The play unfolds in this manner: Aunt Susie Stowe lives entirely alone. She is eccentric and a spinister. One day she learns that her former school mate, Cora King, has willed Susie her property providing she marries Omar Graves, a cousin of Cora's, within thirty days. Miss Stowe objects vigorously, but at the end of the play she and Omar Graves decide to be married.

"Oh, Promise Me"

The second Senior Class play, "Oh, Promise Me!", was presented on March 15, 1940. The plot was built around a young millionaire playboy, Barry Hollis, who gets into no end of trouble by getting involved in several love affairs simultaneously. While trying to prove to a girl, whom he no longer loves, that he is already married, he "borrows" a baby and at this stage his true love walks in and — poor Barry.

After more trouble and hilarious comedy Barry gets rid of his girl friends and discovers that Ann Furber, his own butler's daughter, is the one he really loves.

Band

The Band is the organization which is responsible for the pep at football and basketball games. During autumn the band rehearsals consist of the practicing of drills and formations to be used on the gridiron. After the football season is over, preparations are begun for the annual concert in May.

On March 1 and March 2, 1940 the Emmaus High Band was host to the All-District Band of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Arts and Crafts Club

During the winter months the projects offered to the club members were the making of wooden bracelets, celluloid rings, candleholders, model airplanes, and wooden serving trays.

In the spring the club studied photography. Clear weather and good moods tempted the group to record the beauties of the Lehigh as well as the pulchritude of our fair friends.

Art Metal Club

Boys and girls are eligible to membership which presupposes an interest in arts and metals. The members worked on a variety of projects including bracelets, ash trays, book ends, nut dishes, scoops and letter openers. These articles were made of pewter, copper, brass, silver, or aluminum and, after having been sawed and filed into shape, club members hammered the metals and then polished them to a nice finish.

Possibly the most popular projects were copper book ends and letter openers. Many of these projects became Christmas and birthday gifts. Continuous activity provided much interest among the members.

At a Rotary meeting held last fall at the Broad Street Hotel, these boys pleased a large group of attendants with their singing. The club has participated in other activities during the year, and although it is rather small in size, it has done wonderful work.

The six seniors who were members of the team debated the question: "Resolved, That the Federal government should own and operate the rail-roads."

The highlights of the season were the annual triangular debate and a debating tournament sponsored by the Lehigh Valley Debating Association which was held at Slatington.

In the triangular debate, the affirmative met Slatington, and the negative met Catasauqua. Both teams were defeated.

It was the first time that Emmaus High School was represented in the debating tournament. One whole day was consumed in debating ten other teams from Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Sew-So Club

The members of the Sew-So Club combined work and pleasure. Some of the girls knit, others embroider, still others crochet and weave, but there is one diversion in which they all engage—talking. Thus the club aims to promote friendliness while the members are accomplishing something worthwhile.

Student Council

The Student Council discusses and recommends improvements in school discipline and school activities.

Members are representatives of each home room who bring to Student Council suggestions from the home room. Discussion follows and the home room member returns with the results of the discussion.

It is a student activity and is a clearing house for student troubles and ideas. Recommendations and discussions this year have included: Lyceum, penny-a-week drive, choice of courses, home rooms, clubs, fire drills, lunch periods, and bulletin boards.

Tatting Club

Aspirations of yesteryear bid students assemble for tatting and similar handcraft. The dip of the shuttle fascinated a score or more, but not many meetings passed by before knots played havoc with good intentions. Dreams of completing hand-made laces vanished before spring arrived. Knitting, crocheting, embroidery, and even handwriting stole the show.

Planning for the Valentine party was almost as much fun as the Valentine box, the games, and the refreshments.

Tennis and Ping-Pong Club

The Tennis and Ping-Pong Club had competitions on the school courts on fair weather days. But when the sky was overcast, the games of tennis had to be forfeited and the members played ping-pong, badminton, or basketball. In the spring of the year the club engaged in matches and tournaments with various schools.

Typing Club

The Typing Club was organized in September for the benefit of the students who desired to improve their typing. The club members have attained their personal goals in most cases. This, of course, was due to their willingness to become better typists.

Making designs, typing of speed tests, and notebook projects were some of the opportunities derived from the club.

Astronomy Club

The Astronomy Club, consisting of fifteen members, was organized for the purpose of studying the solar system and stellar movements.

Articles concerning astronomy were brought in by each of the members of the club, followed by a rather comprehensive discussion, and later arranged into a scrapbook.

Many members have made charts depicting the various solar phenomena, and also many sterioptican slides, for projecting on the previously constructed orrery. With the aid of the orrery and slides, the group has made extensive study of the constellations. The Astronomy Club is under the direction of Mr. Bowers.

Checker Club

Junior and Senior High School students who desired to relax for forty-five minutes gathered in Mr. Geissinger's room to play checkers, Chinese checkers, and similar games. All players chose their own opponents and the "heat of the games" retained a calmness which evidences fine character in the realm of play.

The year started with an enrollment of fifty active members.

Hobby Club

The Hobby Club was formed for the purpose of satisfying a large number of pupils in working at their hobbies.

The members of the club have many different hobbies. Some of these are: playing checkers, collecting all kinds of cigar bands, match cases, stamps, movie stars, and sport pictures. Others discuss the merits of the various makes of automobiles and airplanes. The remainder of the members read, study, or have miscellaneous conversations. Mr. Ortt is the sponsor of the Hobby Club.

Boy Scout Club

The Boy Scout Club, planned for boys who are advanced in scouting as well as for those who take an interest in scouting activities, is sponsored by Mr. Heller and is under the direct supervision of Life Scout Walter Weidner and Star Scout Mark Kleppinger.

The activities of the club are varied, including any phase of scouting in which the boy may be interested. New hobbies and unusual activities are encouraged.

Pennsylvania German Club

To foster love for the Pennsylvania German dialect, customs, and literature is our aim. To this end the members were encouraged to read, study, and enjoy representative works of authors in the dialect, and to collect "'S Pennsylfawnish Deitsch Eck," edited by Professor Preston A. Barba of Muhlenberg College.

Some of the literary pieces examined were: "Der September Schtarem," "Der Rewwer," "Sammstag Owed," and "S Schneckehaus" by Charles Calvin Ziegler; "Der Regeboge" and "Heemweh" by Reverend Henry Harbaugh.

The club investigated the reasons for emigration from Germany during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and for settlement in Pennsylvania.

Since understanding and speaking the dialect are prerequisites to membership, no attempts were made to teach members to speak it. Mr. Albert S. Benfield was the sponsor of this club.
